AN ACT ...; relating to: the well-woman program.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Health Services (DHS) administers the Wisconsin Well-Woman Program under which service providers are reimbursed for providing preventative health care services to low-income, underinsured, and uninsured women. Under this bill, DHS may only distribute state funds allocated to the Wisconsin Well-Woman Program to public entities. This bill further provides that public entities that receive state funding through the Wisconsin Well-Woman Program may provide the funds to other entities provided that the recipient does not provide abortions, make referrals for abortion services, or have an affiliate that provides abortions or makes referrals for abortion services.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:
